400 Informed How Junior College Can Be Formed

By DAN WHITTLE

DEXTER — Forming a junior college in the Boothel was discussed last night at a meeting attended by 400 school board members, superintendents and other school administrators.

Lynn Twitty, Sikeston superintendent of schools, said following the meeting that a meeting of representatives of school districts from six counties probably would be called to discuss establishing a junior college in the region.

Petitions could not be submitted and other preliminary arrangements made to form a junior college district before next annual school election on April 5.

If the junior college is formed it would offer academic instruction to students expecting to transfer to another institution of higher learning as well as vocational and technical training.

This junior college would be for students in Scott, Mississippi, Stoddard, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Dunklin counties or two junior colleges might be formed in the region.

Poplar Bluff also is planning to establish a junior college. Dr. Joseph P. Cosand, president of the St. Louis County Junior College, told those attending in the high school auditorium how to proceed.

He said that the most important factor in forming a junior college district is to know the population potential and wealth of the district.

W. R. Pierce, superintendent of Charleston schools, reported information tabulated in a survey of the six counties.

The study indicated that from within New Madrid, Scott, Stoddard, Mississippi, Pemiscot and Dunklin Counties 378 students could be expected to enroll as freshmen the first year of operations.

He said that approximately 200 of those would remain, giving a second year total enrollment of nearly 600.

Fred Davis, Jefferson City, state department of education in charge of junior colleges, told ways of forming a junior college district.

People of the district must be informed as to what the educational improvements are that will be made available, he said.

Information about the school districts involved must be acquired, such as valuation and number of available students, he explained.

He said that no districts would be split, but that all district boundaries would remain intact if included in a junior college.

"No longer are junior colleges employing just an academic program, but are changing more to the technical-vocational type of training," he said.

Fiftyone junior colleges were formed last year in the United States.

More than 75 per cent of the enrollment of freshman in Illinois, California and Florida are enrolled in junior colleges.

Cosand said that junior colleges that were formed 40 years ago were academic transfer institutions and as a consequence the program reached only a select number of students.

He said that a comprehensive community junior college offers its educational resources to more students, particularly adults, which constitute one half of junior college enrollment.

He stressed that in order to be successful the junior college must provide an education for a large portion of the student potential.

The state board of education will meet this month to examine the petitions and to act on the application for a four-county area junior college.

Cosand said recent years have brought about a change in the curriculum offered in junior colleges.

"It must be a comprehensive community institution meeting the particular needs of a district," he said. "No junior college can be duplicated by another one."

A junior college must work cooperatively with the area high schools and also must provide an educational program for adults.

$2,111, 100 Budget For Schools Asked

A tentative 1966-67 $2,111,100 school year budget was presented to the board of education by Superintendent of Schools Lynn Twitty.

Twitty said that he expects expenditures to total $1,892,095.

The budget does not include any federally sponsored programs. Twitty said that a figure could not now be supplied because several federal programs are planned or awaiting approval. He estimated that funds from this source, requiring no local tax funds, would amount to nearly $1,000,000.

Of the total budget $644,000 is expected to be raised from the local tax sources.

Twitty said that the present $4 levy would require no increase.

Twitty was given a new four year contract. He has served as superintendent here since 1951.

Included in the budget will be an increase in faculty salaries. Twitty said the salary schedule increases are based on an expectation of increased state revenue.

Twitty asked and was given approval that he use a committee of faculty members in working out the details of the salary schedule.

The board acted on the appointment of a citizens advisory council to assist in planning school growth and progress for the next ten years. Members of the council, who desire to continue serving, will automatically be reappointed.

Included in the study will be curriculum, related educational services including counseling and guidance; personnel, physical facilities, financing and community services.

Bills amounting to $12,804 for a building fund.

U.S. Troops Kill 23 Viet Cong, Uncover Tunnels

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. troops killed 23 Viet Cong and uncovered and destroyed a network of tunnels more than a mile square today, as they continued their biggest push of the war to drive the guerrillas from the edge of the Iron Triangle.

The day's report raised the Communist toll in five days of Operation Crimp to 107 insurgents killed and 80 captured. Weapons and supplies seized included 122 personal guns, 20 automatic weapons, a mortar, a recoilless rifle, 25,000 rounds of ammunition and 71 tons of rice.

As the Americans kept up their destructive blows on the edge of the Saigon River 25 miles northwest of the capital, U.S. and Vietnamese spokesman reported 236 American and Vietnamese soldiers killed or missing last week compared with 714 Viet Cong killed or captured.

A U.S. military spokesman said American casualties for the week were 43 killed, 202 wounded and two missing or captured. The week before American casualties were 34 dead, 116 wounded and five missing or captured.

The South Vietnamese reported 118 of their men killed and 73 missing last week but refused to give the number of wounded.

More than two dozen B52 Stratofortresses swept in from Guam to continue their almost daily bombardment of Viet Cong targets. They dropped more than 750,000 pounds of bombs on a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border and a Viet Cong settlement south of Da Nang.

A battalion of U.S. Marines later moved by helicopter into the target area near Da Nang.

The Leathernecks reported one known Viet Cong killed by the bombardment and they killed two more and rounded up 19 suspects, including some women.

With the steady rise of Communist casualties and material losses in Operation Crimp, initial disappointment among U.S. officers gradually yielded to some measure of satisfaction, although the big swell still had not resulted in a major battle with the guerrillas.

Greater Public Mental Health Role Asked

Dr. Richard B. Cravens, Jefferson City, clinical psychologist of the state division of mental health, last night at the Holiday Inn urged greater public participation in mental health as the program develops with new clinics to be established in Missouri. Sikeston will be the site for one of the mental retardation treatment centers.

A total of 130 men and women, members of the Southeast Missouri Association for Social Welfare, heard him.

The association reelected David Ragan, Lilbourn, as chairman; and elected Joe Welnorn, Bloomfield; first vice chairman; Gerald Cook, Fredericktown, second vice chairman; Mrs. Agnes Cunningham, East Prairie, secretary; Mrs. June Hilpert, Cape Girardeau, treasurer.

Board members elected at large for two years were Edwin C. Budlong, Jackson; Mrs. Elaine Province, Charleston; William O. Stader, Cape Girardeau; Fred A. Walker, Farmington. Board members for one year, Mrs. Denise G. Baron, Poplar Bluff; Paul G. Hutchings, Marble Hill; Mrs. Dorothy Hutton, Poplar Bluff; Mrs. Violet Shipton, Poplar Bluff; Mrs. LeRoy Whitener, Hayti.

Cravens outlined the work done by the 1963 state legislature, which approved funds to establish centers in St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia, each with 120 beds, with extensive care being provided to 480 children now hospitalized in the four service centers.

"Missouri has established a number of firsts in the mental program, after Congress approved $150 million in funds, with this state receiving $3.3

1,413 Votes Expected to Be Cast in Special Election

Balloting to Be on Three Amendments

SIKESTON — A Scott County vote of 1,413 was predicted for Friday's election on three state constitutional amendments.

Polling places were announced by Phil Waldman, Jr., county clerk.

Voting will begin at 6 a.m. and will continue until 7 p.m. or until sunset, whichever is later.

Waldman predicted 1,413 votes would be cast. There are 14,651 registered voters in the county.

Polling places are: Benton, court house; Kelso high school; New Hamburg, elementary school; Commerce, city hall; Scott City, precincts one and two, city hall; Chaffee, precincts one and two, city hall; Bleda and Oran precincts one and two, Oran city hall; Perkins, usual place; McMullin, McMullin Gin Office; Crowder and Salcedo, Springs Store in Salcedo; Blodgett, city hall; Diehlstadt and Lusk, at Diehlstadt.

Sikeston polling places will be: ward one, precincts one and two, police station; ward two, precincts one and two, Mitchell Sharp garage; ward three, precincts one and two, Ford Motor Company; ward four, precincts one and two, army building.

Waldman said that application has been made for 10 absentee ballots.

Any others wishing to vote by absentee ballot must come to his office tomorrow during business hours. The office closes at 5 p.m.

Amendment one authorizes first class counties and to provide death benefits, pensions and retirement plans for salaried employees.

Amendment two authorizes school districts to levy a property tax at a rate not in excess of $1.25 per $100 valuation.

Amendment three provides for reapportionment of the Missouri house in the legislature.

That's an increase of 19.1 per cent over the current year but 18.2 per cent less than the division requested.

Dr. George A. Ulett, division director, called it "a good budget that will permit us to move forward and improve our program."

He said one important forward step is a "program" or lump sum budget for the new intensive treatment centers at St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia and nine new diagnostic centers for the mentally retarded, one of which will be located in Sikeston.

This will allow flexibility, Ulett explained, and permit administrators to use the money to do the best I can to carry on.

Of Dr. Weaver, President Ellis said:

"I have known John Weaver for many years and in my judgment Missouri is fortunate to have him as president of its University."

"In fact it was six years ago that I first recommended him for another position."

"He is a dynamic leader in higher education, proven by experience in several universities similar to ours. I am completely confident that his administration will be marked by great achievements for all campuses of the University and by the state."

Dr. Weaver, whose academic field is geography, has been on faculties of six mid-western schools, including two in the Big Eight Conference, in which Missouri is a member.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wednesday, January 12, 1978, Thwing, Germany: King Croach the Chicken invades next door.

A bunch of befogery seems to be building up around Proposition No. 3 -- the reapportionment amendment. Some folks think they can cast a "no" vote and thereby register their opposition to the court's order to redistrict.

The vote might register a protest--but it is of no avail. Some folks twit me a little about my saying I am going to vote for the proposal. They point out that I have had several columns in which I decried the "one man one vote" order.

I believe that one house of the assembly should be on a population basis but I do not believe both should. But that is entirely beside the question. The court has ordered Missouri to redistrict.

There is a proposal -- Proposition No. 3--which will set the machinery in motion for the redistricting. The proposal provides another method for getting the job done if the redistricting commission cannot come up with an agreement.

But what if the proposal fails? Frankly, no one knows. The court could redistrict the state as it saw fit, it would order all candidates for state representative to run at large, it could postpone the final day -- all of these things are possible. No one knows what will happen until such a time as we fail to pass the proposal and do the job through our district leaders -- named by the Governor.

Frankly, I see no choice. We should adopt the proposal and redistrict in an orderly manner.

The Colonel said: "At a dinner party one should eat wisely but not too well, and talk well but not too wisely."

WE CAN'T KEEP IT OUT OF THE PAPER

When a person is charged with violating a law, and when a public record is made of the charge, a newspaper's responsibility is to publish this information.

We can't draw a line. When we have the information, it's as much our duty to publish it as it is for the public officials to give it to us in the first place.

A number of persons involved in various dealings with the law have contacted this newspaper recently asking that their names be withheld from publication.

These folks have attempted to bolster their request by mentioning to us that the arresting officer told them the newspaper could leave the names out, and that all the defendants need do is inform us accordingly.

Somebody's bad wrong.

It would be easier for an arresting officer to withhold public information from publication than for this newspaper to do so.

And when a public official starts suppressing public information, he's taking on a pretty powerful piece of paper, too: The U.S. Constitution.

But a newspaper must answer to a power even stronger: The people.

For the benefit of all concerned -- defendants, plaintiffs, policemen, courts, clerks:

This newspaper isn't about to try to deprive people of their Constitutional right, the right to be informed. Even if by some impossible stroke of power, we suddenly became able to suppress the news, it would be utterly ridiculous to do so. For such a thing would eliminate our reason for existing.

It's no particular delight to publish information about people getting a better job, winning a trophy, losing trouble, building a dream house or inheriting a fortune.

The kicker is this: We have to do both. Newspaper staffs are composed of people. While this may surprise some folks, it is true. When we hire a plumber, we don't tell him how to swab out a drain pipe. If we did, he'd pick up his tools and leave. When we buy groceries, we don't tell the grocer what he's going to charge us for his goods. If we did, he'd chase us out of the place. When we have gall bladders taken out, we don't tell the doctor how he should do it. If we did, he'd gouge us in some uncomfortable place with a needle. Reporters have always been told how to report. We sincerely hope this never changes. It is healthy; it is as natural as a burp.

But when reporters are told WHAT to report, it's a completely different thing. And then fur begins to fly.

When a strike stopped production at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation's East Alton, Ill., munitions plant for a month the federal government began looking around for another source of the special gunpowder made there.

Admittedly such action was warranted. The decision of unions to strike the plant may prove to have been a blessing in disguise but the precautionary measures appear to be overdue.

Why did the federal government rely on the production of one plant for this gunpowder? How many other single plants in other parts of the country are making essential armaments?

A natural disaster might have shut down the East Alton plant. If a tornado had bowled over the facility or floods had ruined the machinery the nation's defense would have been placed in jeopardy.

If the plant had been disabled by sabotage or an enemy bomb in event of a war in which this country were attacked the same result could have been achieved.

Why has this country been placed in a vulnerable position?

How many more single essential-to-defense plants are there scattered across the country?

There has been no answer to these questions but they should be answered to the satisfaction of all citizens.

At East Alton the strike halted production of the nation's only manufacturer of a gunpowder for some rifle and tracer bullets and 20mm cannon shells used in Viet Nam.

There was not a word of censure from the federal government for the striking unions but that is typical and secondary to the importance of the major issue of dependence on one plant for any type of arms used in the Viet Nam conflict or any other war in which this country might be engaged.

Let's not have any more "East Altons."

Anthony Harrigan writes in National Review: "It would be foolish for Americans to believe that Japan and the United States have a complete identity of national interest. The U. S. is only in part a Pacific-oriented nation. But the two countries have certain problems and needs in common. We are Japan's No. 1 customer; in turn, Japan is our chief customer, after Canada. It is to the advantage of both great Pacific nations to maintain that relationship. In addition, both countries need to keep the sea lanes open, to block Communist China from dominating the islands and rimland of Southeast Asia, and from turning the Indian Ocean -- around which are rich trading opportunities -- into a Red lake."

FALLACY

FACTS

"There can be no doubt that the federally sanctioned union-shop contract here, as it actually works, takes a part of the earnings of some men and turns it over to others, who spend a substantial part of the funds so received in efforts to thwart the political, economic and ideological hopes of those whose money has been forced from them under authority of law."

NEW YORK (AP)--Who has it better in life--man or woman?

I had always thought that most people were pretty well satisfied to be a member of the sex they were born into.

However, it appears my viewpoint may be wrong. According to an article in "The Farmers' Almanac," my authority in such matters, 65 per cent of women would prefer to be men because they feel men have more freedom.

The article pointed out some of the disadvantages of being a man. Such as that men work at more dangerous occupations and are four times as likely to be killed in accidents and three times as likely to become homicide victims.

Reporters have always been told how to report. We sincerely hope this never changes. It is healthy; it is as natural as a burp.

But when reporters are told WHAT to report, it's a completely different thing. And then fur begins to fly.

for these governments, says Tax Foundation, Inc. Most recently - available figures show that the number of state-local workers has increased 55 per cent since 1954.

In the 1954-64 interval, while Federal civilian workers increased about 6 per cent -- or from 2,378,000, to an estimated 2,528,000 -- state-local employment leaped from 4,836,000 to about 7,535,000.

The cost of meeting the state-local government payroll has grown too -- by about 135 per cent since 1954, the Foundation estimates.

In 1954, total state-local government monthly payrolls amounted to $1.3 billion. By 1964, monthly payroll costs had nearly tripled, to over $3 billion per month.

In the same interval, Federal government civilian workers' payroll costs (1954-64) rose by about 88 per cent, or from $785 million monthly to $1.5 billion per month.

What we fear most is when the shoe gets on the other foot the people may retaliate with some kind of Osm and take over. Thus, gumming up the works.

What went with the landowners royalty right? That could also be a good question as to what went with the royalty rights on that $5.30 per acre land bought by Unk for the Clark Nat'l. forest? Now in the big new lead mine opening up in the Ozark caper, when any government acts in such a way.

The soda-cracker barrel was a standard fixture of all grocery stores at the turn of the century. But open barrels were unsanitary and exposed the cracker to dampness. And they didn't give a baker much chance to display his trademark and persuade customers that there was something special about his crackers.

The obvious solution was to pack them in individual, brightly colored containers that could be sold one to a customer. The baker laid a sheet of wax paper on a piece of cardboard and folded them together into a package. dedicated labor leader of one million Central Labor Council members, was planning mass demonstrations in support of the imprisoned Quill.

Big Joe Curran's National Maritime Union (EMU) had pulled crews off several commercial freighters in the harbor. One of his executive aides had approached John Bowers, executive vice president of the International Longshoremen's Assn. with a request for water-front action which could slow the entire port -- without halting Viet Nam-bound freighters.

Bowers rejected any such supporting boycott action despite the NMU's advice that it could be stated that the failure of some dock "gangs" to get to the piers had created safety hazards on the waterfront.

At about four p.m. Quill's answer to the Lindsay offer was a big "No!"

Quill's battle ramparts now the white bed sheets of Bellevue Hospital, had decided to hold out for more millions of dollars -- and for the drubbing of the man he had called a pipsqueak.

Lindsay was on the spot all alone. But not for long.

About 6:10 p.m. he telephoned President Johnson who had told him previously he would take the call immediately. All right, said Lindsay, send in your conciliator.

With almost a single gesture, the President, after some pleasant words, put down one phone and called Labor Secretary Wirtz on the other, much to the latter's surprise. Go to New York he was told.

Wirtz knew he could not succeed. Mike Quill had rejected him as a chief mediator as early as Dec. 5. But Wirtz flew in, ate a cold roast beef sandwich at Lindsay's desk, shook hands with labor leaders, listened politely, talked professionally, and flew home sleepy.

No one had wanted him to come in -- including himself. Really, not even the President. Certainly not the three-man mediation board. Nor the union, Nor Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

But to the jittery city it looked good. Score one for Lindsay. It defused the explosive temper of the populace at the height of history's greatest traffic jam. Score two for Lindsay.

It proved that Lindsay was not stubbornly attempting to make a hero of himself. Score three for Lindsay.

And it evidenced the fact that not even a presidential emissary could move the union into getting the city moving again until Quill said go. Score four for Lindsay.

And it preserved the non-partisan image Lindsay is so eager to paint -- a young Republican willing to go humbly to the old sage, Mr. Democrat himself.

In the early hours of Friday, John Vlet Lindsay and Lyndon Baines Johnson were in it together. Quill could not shift Elslagh City Hall without clubbing the White House.

A MAN'S OWN LIFE

A man's own life must be his first concern. Dead, he is of no use to anyone. Physically living, but stifled and unproductive, he is simply a burden on others.

Only with freedom and opportunity can he achieve. Only if he puts the value of his own life and production first, will he achieve.

We are often told that concern for others and concern for one-self and one's own life are opposites. This is not true. The man who does not highly value and use well his own life is not likely to value the

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wednesday, January 12, 1378, Thwig, Germany: King Croach the Chicken invades next door.

A bunch of befogery seems to be building up around Proposition No. 3 -- the reapportionment amendment. Some folks think they can cast a "no" vote and thereby register their opposition to the court's order to redistrict.

The vote might register a protest--but it is of no avail. Some folks twit me a little about my saying I am going to vote for the proposal. They point out that I have had several columns in which I decried the "one man one vote" order.

I believe that one house of the assembly should be on a population basis but I do not believe both should. But that is entirely beside the question. The court has ordered Missouri to redistrict.

There is a proposal -- Proposition No. 3--which will set the machinery in motion for the redistricting. The proposal provides another method for getting the job done if the redistricting commission cannot come up with an agreement.

But what if the proposal fails? Frankly, no one knows. The court could redistrict the state as it saw fit, it would order all candidates for state representative to run at large, it could postpone the final day -- all of these things are possible. No one knows what will happen until such a time as we fail to pass the proposal and do the job through our district leaders -- named by the Governor.

Frankly, I see no choice. We should adopt the proposal and redistrict in an orderly manner.

The Colonel said: "At a dinner party one should eat wisely but not too well, and talk well but not too wisely."

WE CAN'T KEEP IT OUT OF THE PAPER
When a person is charged with violating a law, and when a public record is made of the charge, a newspaper's responsibility is to publish this information.

We can't draw a line. When we have the information, it's as much our duty to publish it as it is for the public officials to give it to us in the first place.

A number of persons involved in various dealings with the law have contacted this newspaper recently asking that their names be withheld from publication.

These folks have attempted to bolster their request by mentioning to us that the arresting officer told them the newspaper could leave the names out, and that all the defendants need do is inform us accordingly.

Somebody's bad wrong.

It would be easier for an arresting officer to withhold public information from publication than for this newspaper to do so.

And when a public official starts suppressing public information, he's taking on a pretty powerful piece of paper, too: The U.S. Constitution.

But a newspaper must answer to a power even stronger: The people.

For the benefit of all concerned -- defendants, plaintiffs, policemen, courts, clerks:

This newspaper isn't about to try to deprive people of their Constitutional right, the right to be informed. Even if by some impossible stroke of power, we suddenly became able to suppress the news, it would be utterly ridiculous to do so. For such a thing would eliminate our reason for existing.

It's no particular delight to publish information about people getting a better job, winning a trophy, losing trouble, building a dream house or inheriting a fortune.

The kicker is this: We have to do both. Newspaper staffs are composed of people. While this may surprise some folks, it is true. When we hire a plumber, we don't tell him how to swab out a drain pipe. If we did, he'd pick up his tools and leave. When we buy groceries, we don't tell the grocer what he's going to charge us for his goods. If we did, he'd chase us out of the place. When we have gall bladders taken out, we don't tell the doctor how he should do it. If we did, he'd gouge us in some uncomfortable place with a needle.

Reporters have always been told how to report. We sincerely hope this never changes. It is healthy; it is as natural as a burp.

But when reporters are told WHAT to report, it's a completely different thing. And then it begins to fly.

Admittedly such action was warranted. The decision of unions to strike the plant may prove to have been a blessing in disguise but the precautionary measures appear to be overdue.

Why did the federal government rely on the production of one plant for this gunpowder? How many other single plants in other parts of the country are making essential armaments?

A natural disaster might have shut down the East Alton plant. If a tornado had bowled over the facility or floods had ruined the machinery the nation's defense would have been placed in jeopardy.

If the plant had been disabled by sabotage or an enemy bomb in event of a war in which this country were attacked the same result could have been achieved.

Why has this country been placed in a vulnerable position?

How many more single essential-to-defense plants are there scattered across the country?

There has been no answer to these questions but they should be answered to the satisfaction of all citizens.

At East Alton the strike halted production of the nation's only manufacturer of a gunpowder for some rifle and tracer bullets and 20mm cannon shells used in Viet Nam.

There was not a word of censure from the federal government for the striking unions but that is typical and secondary to the importance of the major issue of dependence on one plant for any type of arms used in the Viet Nam conflict or any other war in which this country might be engaged.

Let's not have any more "East Altons."

Anthony Harrigan writes in National Review: "It would be foolish for Americans to believe that Japan and the United States have a complete identity of national interest. The U. S. is only in part a Pacific-oriented nation. But the two countries have certain problems and needs in common. We are Japan's No. 1 customer; in turn, Japan is our chief customer, after Canada. It is to the advantage of both great Pacific nations to maintain that relationship. In addition, both countries need to keep the sea lanes open, to block Communist China from dominating the islands and rimland of Southeast Asia, and from turning the Indian Ocean -- around which are rich trading opportunities -- into a Red lake."

FALLACY

FACTS

"There can be no doubt that the federally sanctioned union-shop contract here, as it actually works, takes a part of the earnings of some men and turns it over to others, who spend a substantial part of the funds so received in efforts to thwart the political, economic and ideological hopes of those whose money has been forced from them under authority of law."

UP TO THE STATES NOW

The railroads have won victory after victory -- in the courts, in Congress, in the White House, in the decisions of top - level commissions and investigatory bodies -- in their efforts to eliminate featherbedding. The nation's press has given them all but unanimous support. For featherbedding -- which amounts to pay for work not needed or not performed -- results from work rules that may have made sense once but now are totally obsolete in the light of the advanced railroad technology of this time.

The gains, however, have been made at the federal level. This was highlighted when Governor Rockefeller called for repeal of New York state's "full crew" statutes. This, as the Billings, Montana, Gazette says, underscores "... the fact that there are numerous state laws standing in the way of nationwide action against featherbedding."

The gains have amounted to 50 years old, having been passed in 1913. And similar laws, the Gazette informs us, are on the books in 15 other states. All of them have to do with operating conditions which no longer exist and never will.

Beyond that, solution to the railroad problem -- and it is one of the gravest problems we face -- is dependent on state o less than federal action and policy.

One of the worst factors has been the tendency of states to assess and tax railroad property at levels much higher than those applied to other and comparable commercial property. This type of political featherbedding has saddled the railroads with costs which are unjust and indefensible, and have grossly weakened their competitive position.

The obvious solution was to put them in individual, brightly colored containers that could be sold one to a customer. The baker laid a sheet of wax paper on a piece of cardboard and folded them together into a package. American Legion Auxiliary Meets With Mrs. Tope

Henry Meldrum Unit No. 114, American Legion Auxiliary, met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fred Tope, Jr., at 7:30 p.m. with the president, Mrs. Tope, presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Fred Tope, Sr. Five officers answered roll call. Minutes of the December meeting were approved as read.

The treasurer reported she had sent a $50 check to Veterans Hospital, Poplar Bluff. The money will purchase Canteen Books for each of the patients on fifth floor known as the home nursing service ward. Many of these patients do not have any relatives and therefore would not have had these books given them at Christmas had it not been for the Quilters of the local American Legion Auxiliary Unit. It was reported also that the Unit had assisted a family who were enroute home by furnishing lodging, food, and gasoline for the car.

Girls State chairman announced that she had received a letter from the Girls State director announcing that the 25th Session of Missouri Girls State will be held on the campus of Stephens College at Columbia from Sunday, June 19, to Saturday, June 25. Missouri Girls State is part of a national youth-in-government program which is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Unit voted to sponsor one girl to Girls State and a pledge will be sent in immediately. The deadline date is March 15. No unit may send more than 10 girls to Missouri Girls State. The quota is 612 girls and once it is reached, no more will be accepted.

During the presidents and secretaries conference, the National Security chairman announced Operation Hometown Newspaper -- a plan to provide a subscription to the hometown newspaper for the men in Viet Nam. The project has the approval of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. The plan was to be based on the request of the serviceman for the subscription. The request was to be mailed to the Washington Office. Based on a survey among the servicemen in Viet Nam by the military, this is what they wanted most. The National Organization of the Auxiliary reports that following an announcement of the plan in the Pacific edition of the Stars and Stripes, they are being flooded with requests from servicemen. The local Auxiliary Unit received one of the requests for The Daily Standard.

The president announced the annual Woman of the Year Banquet of the Sikeston Business and Professional Women's Club would be held in March. She appointed the following committee to select a candidate for the Auxiliary: Mrs. J. W. Foley, Mrs. H. G. Cathey and Mrs. Sam Wilcox. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned until Feb. 3.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets With Mrs. Tope

Henry Meldrum Unit No. 114, American Legion Auxiliary, met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fred Tope, Jr., at 7:30 p.m. with the president, Mrs. Tope, presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Fred Tope, Sr. Five officers answered roll call. Minutes of the December meeting were approved as read.

The treasurer reported she had sent a $50 check to Veterans Hospital, Poplar Bluff. The money will purchase Canteen Books for each of the patients on fifth floor known as the home nursing service ward. Many of these patients do not have any relatives and therefore would not have had these books given them at Christmas had it not been for the quilters of the local American Legion Auxiliary Unit. It was reported also that the Unit had assisted a family who were enroute home by furnishing lodging, food, and gasoline for the car.

Girls State chairman announced that she had received a letter from the Girls State director announcing that the 25th Session of Missouri Girls State will be held on the campus of Stephens College at Columbia from Sunday, June 19, to Saturday, June 25. Missouri Girls State is part of a national youth-in-government program which is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Unit voted to sponsor one girl to Girls State and a pledge will be sent in immediately. The deadline date is March 15. No Unit may send more than 10 girls to Missouri Girls State. The quota is 612 girls and once it is reached, no more will be accepted.

During the presidents and secretaries conference, the National Security chairman announced Operation Hometown Newspaper -- a plan to provide a subscription to the hometown newspaper for the men in Viet Nam. The project has the approval of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. The plan was to be based on the request of the serviceman for the subscription. The request was to be mailed to the Washington Office. Based on a survey among the servicemen in Viet Nam by the military, this is what they wanted most. The National Organization of the Auxiliary reports that following an announcement of the plan in the Pacific edition of the Stars and Stripes, they are being flooded with requests from servicemen. The local Auxiliary Unit received one of the requests for The Daily Standard.

The president announced the annual Woman of the Year Banquet of the Sikeston Business and Professional Women's Club would be held in March. She appointed the following committee to select a candidate for the Auxiliary; Mrs. J. W. Foley, Mrs. H. G. Cathey and Mrs. Sam Wilcox. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned until Feb. 3.

Mrs. Tom Foley, Miss Alice Husher, Mrs. Phil Rosenbloom, Mrs. Dennis Miller, and Mrs. David Boardman.

Press Report
by Edward V. Long

Congress is back in session. Hearings and Committee meetings have already begun on many urgent national matters.

The Senate and House are giving close attention to Viet Nam. Our military and economic development programs must be carefully reviewed by Congress in light of current developments in Southeast Asia.

Meanwhile, Congress is at work reviewing many programs and measures which are of great importance to Missourians.

Slated for early action this year is a bill to give cold war and Viet Nam veterans the same educational and home-buying benefits our boys had after the Second World War and the Korean War.

Congress must consider renewing a number of bills passed in 1963 which expire this year. This includes the Higher Education Facilities Act, the Library Services Act, the Mental Retardation Act, and the Clean Air Act.

As a member of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, will be taking a close look at legislation to improve our Federal small business loan program. Major disasters around the nation last year exhausted the supply of money available from the Small Business Administration.

One bill would establish two separate loan funds, one for disaster loans and the other for normal business loans.

The SBA approved small business loans in Missouri totaling $2,323,000 during August and September, 1966 according to the latest report.

A total of 80 small businesses in Missouri were given small business loans during the two-month period. These loans will help provide employment for 428 Missourians in 62 different communities.

Grocers, bakers, auto supply shops, clothing stores, barber shops, nurseries, motels and welding shops were among those firms receiving loans ranging from $3,000 to $100,000.

In the twelve months before the Small Business loan funds ran out last year, a total of nearly $15,000,000 in small business loans for 526 Missouri firms were approved under programs administered by the Small Business Administration.

"Missouri With A Bootheel"

By J. C. MAY

Who is the real American of 1965?

I was born in the Bootheel of Missouri in 1893. I watched the Spanish American troops go through Blodgett, Mo., on their way to the training center of Florida.

To get back to history -- my father, Jasper H. May was the daddy of this generation. He farmed the rich land that came down from the foothills of Morey. He had several hundred acres of this land and God has not made any land better.

My brother, Howie, and I were born here, and Howie is still living in Morey, Mo.

My father's farm laid adjoining to a neighbor by the name of "Black Bill Settles."

As I grew up my Uncle Frank May, who worked with the bridge gang for the old St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railway, later to become the Mo. Pacific for 47 years, bought land adjoining they railroad at Hoop Spur.

This Hoop Spur is now known as Oevener.

My uncle put in a small grocery and secured the post office. His wife, my Aunt Minnie, named the office.

At this time Belmont was the greatest railroad and river town in the Bootheel. All the trophies of the battle of Belmont were there. I think the majority of the trophies are in Columbus, Ky.

My mother was a Kentuckian. She rode side saddle and taught school on the Sikeston Ridge.

CONG SANCTUARY—Map above shows last known locations of a number of North Vietnamese independent regiments which have bases in Cambodia and strike across the border at the South Vietnamese. Black arrows show general routes of movement. Also shown are some of the base areas controlled by Viet Cong inside the border of South Viet Nam.

Shoots Self In Right Hand

KENNE T - Holly Dollins, 19, of Gobler was admitted to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital at 9:15 p.m. Friday night with an accidental gunshot wound. He was reported in satisfactory condition.

Dollins was reportedly shot in the right hand with a .22 caliber rifle bullet.

City Policeman Otis Hollifield, who, with policeman James Pruitt, investigated, said that Dollins was riding in the back seat of a car on the South By-Pass near Smith and Son's Transmission Shop when the shooting took place.

Dollins was reportedly trying to take a shell from the rifle and it discharged, hitting him in a finger on his right hand.

Main Street, U.S.A.

By Bert Mills WASHINGTON, D.C. - Business was good in 1965 and will be better in the new year, forecasters in government and industry agree unanimously.

In fact, the outlook for boom conditions is so bright that economists are having difficulty in finding the usual dark signs to hedge their predictions, just in case the upturn should be interrupted.

President Johnson's own economic size-up will not be given until late January but it is safe to say that he will paint a rosy picture of prosperity. He is a collector of favorable statistics and can spout figures upon any occasion.

Forecasts from government sources tend to be over optimistic. It is natural for office-holders to see the sunny side for political reasons, and to say as little as possible about any clouds that may be gathering.

But business spokesmen are just as optimistic about 1966 as the seers in Washington. Fifteen top executives representing a cross section of commerce participated recently in a New York symposium on the outlook, and their unanimous conclusion was "another banner year."

Another panel of 11 leaders in Chicago concentrated on the short term, each with a special eye on his own industry. Their joint conclusion: "Happiness is the outlook for the first quarter."

Farm Outlook Bright (bfrc)

Of special interest to non-metropolitan communities whose economies are tied to farm prosperity was the forecast at the Chicago panel by William Wood Prince, Chairman of Armour & Co. He said 1966 should be "a rich year for agriculture."

U.S. Department of Agriculture has termed 1965 "a relatively good year for farmers generally" and said "1966 should turn out even better." A key barometer of agricultural prosperity is "realized net farm income" -- income remaining after payment of production expenses.

In 1965, net farm income reached $14 billion -- a new record since 1952. The 1966 forecast is for a further rise of $1/4 to $1/2 billion.

On a per capita income basis, farm families have been gaining on city people although there is still a gap.

USDA has also told farmers to expect a continued rise in the Gross National Product in 1966, along with advances in employment and in consumer incomes. Thus the market for food and fiber will be better in the coming year.

The average family spent 6 percent more for food in 1965 than the previous year. Another rise is predicted in 1966, although not as much as 6 percent. Food prices at retail are also expected to continue to climb, but not as steeply as last year.

Employment At Peak (bfrc)

More people than ever before hold jobs today. Unemployment is the lowest it has been in eight years. Practically anybody with any skill at all can find work today. Government planners consider 3 percent the irreducible minimum and that goal is now in sight.

The automobile industry, with which one out of every Americans is involved directly or indirectly, had a fantastic year in 1965, with sales of 10.8 million vehicles, including 9.3 million passenger cars. This mark exceeded any previous year by more than 13 percent.

Despite this booming pace in the auto field, there is no sign of slackening demand even though there have been three record years in a row. New models for this year have been well received and the industry anticipates that 1966 will at least equal the past year.

Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor has predicted that "the biggest year for construction in the history of the country is in prospect for 1966."

USE THE DAILY SIKESTON STANDARD CLASSIFIED ADS

He expects a 6 percent climb.

Doesn't anybody see anything except prosperity ahead? The answer is not quite a flat "no."

There is some concern in business circles about inflation, although the Federal Reserve Board's recent action in raising the discount rate has allayed fears to some extent.

What about escalation of the Viet Nam war and soaring defense expenditures? This is one of the factors giving impetus to the business boom because it creates jobs and payrolls. What if peace should come suddenly in Asia? This prospect appears to be so remote that few consider it.

All in all, 1966 looks as if it will be indeed a Happy New Year.

Vote May Fall as Low as 250,000

JEFFERSON CITY AP — Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick estimated today the total vote at the Jan. 14 special election would fall as low as 250,000.

The vote at the special election last Aug. 17 was 280,955 on the governorship succession amendment, which drew the most votes. It passed by a big margin but a legislative redistricting went down the drain.

Kirkpatrick said campaigning between now and Friday the 14th might increase interest somewhat but as of now he sees little public interest to bring the voters in any great numbers.

He also based his estimate on the fact that January weather is less favorable to a good turnout.

This time, too, he sees little of the organized campaigning that pushed the governorship succession amendment to victory.

The Creation of Jobs

THERE is something very wrong in principle about the President's instruction to all federal agencies that they must hire one youth for each one hundred regular employees. In the first place, there are persistent rumors that these jobs were supplied on a political patronage basis. That, however, is not the worst thing about this development.

A job exists when demand calls for some additional service or some form of goods for which the people are ready to pay. Jobs exist for the purpose of supplying the needs and wants of consumers, and not for the purpose of providing incomes for the workers.

There is no reason at all to assume that for every one hundred regular federal employees, another youth can be usefully employed. Some of the federal agencies unquestionably have more workers now than are needed. To take on extra help under such circumstances is unadulterated wastefulness. The interest of all of us, including the unemployed, is best served when public funds are conserved, not wasted.

The primary purpose of industry and of the service trades is to supply the wants of the people. People with money to spend create jobs. Jobs exist because demand creates them. If they are arbitrarily supplied on any other basis, public expenditure rises, leading to higher taxes, less demand on the part of the public for goods and services and, therefore, in the end, fewer jobs.

It cannot too often be repeated that the aim of business activity is not to supply jobs, but rather to meet the demands of the people. When the government undertakes to supply jobs, regardless of the demand arising from consumers, it is wasting public resources and heading us all in the direction of more government control of the economy and lower standards of living.

A job exists when demand calls for some additional service or some form of goods for which the people are ready to pay. Jobs exist for the purpose of supplying the needs and wants of consumers, and not for the purpose of providing incomes for the workers.

There is no reason at all to assume that for every one hundred regular federal employees, another youth can be usefully employed. Some of the federal agencies unquestionably have more workers now than are needed. To take on extra help under such circumstances is unadulterated wastefulness. The interest of all of us, including the unemployed, is best served when public funds are conserved, not wasted.

The primary purpose of industry and of the service trades is to supply the wants of the people. People with money to spend create jobs. Jobs exist because demand creates them. If they are arbitrarily supplied on any other basis, public expenditure rises, leading to higher taxes, less demand on the part of the public for goods and services and, therefore, in the end, fewer jobs.

It cannot too often be repeated that the aim of business activity is not to supply jobs, but rather to meet the demands of the people.

When the government undertakes to supply jobs, regardless of the demand arising from consumers, it is wasting public resources and heading us all in the direction of more government control of the economy and lower standards of living.

Pastor Resigns

BRAGGADOCIO -- The Rev. W. B. Gossett has resigned the pastoral work of the Baptist Church to become pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist church in Cunningham, Ky.

Rev. and Mrs. Gossett left the first week of January after serving at Braggadocio five years.

During his ministry here, the Rev. Mr. Gossett led the church to build a new auditorium, an annex on the back of an adult assembly room, four classrooms and a nursery, to install a central heating and cooling system and to departmentalize the entire Sunday school.

Mrs. Gossett has been employed at Blakemore's Drug Store in Kennett four years, not wasted.

O'Connor

Quits As Judge

MALDEN -- Virgil O'Connor of Senath, presiding judge of the Dunklin County Court, has resigned effective Sunday.

O'Connor said that he was resigning on the advice of his doctor.

O'Connor was appointed presiding judge of the county court in March of 1963 by former Governor John M. Dalton to fill the unexpired term of Judge H. A. Moore, who resigned because of ill health.

He was elected to office in 1964 for a two-year term.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will make an appointment to fill O'Connor's position until the April election.

THE AMERICAN WAY To Jobs - Peace - Democracy

DRAFT PROGRAM OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY
Church League of America
422 N. Prospect St. Wheaton, Ill.

1. Introduction

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Willard Abraham's "A Time for Teaching," "The Sheepskin Psychosis," by John Keats, James B. Conant's "The Education of American Teachers,"

Martin Mayer's "The Schools," and Paul Blanshard's "Religion and the Schools," are books added to the SEMO federated library service system.

The American people face the danger that everything they believe in, everything they want in this great land to be, is being turned into its opposite.

At a time of great national fear and anxiety the Communist Party submits this Program as an appeal to reason,

Our nation's foreign policy has led us into a blind alley.

Our traditional liberties are vanishing, being replaced with the ugly menace of McCarthyism.

The American people face the the working class and all Americans who are concerned with the welfare of our country.

We are convinced that only the widest unity of the American people can avert the disaster of economic ruin, fascism and war. Only the most open-minded and deep-going democratic debate can produce such unity.

Toward that end we submit this Program.

II. The Looming Depression - The Danger of Hard Times

Ours is a great land. The American people are proud of its inventive genius, its technical know-how, its tremendous industrial machine and vast natural resources. One would, therefore, expect to find among the people a sense of confidence in the future. But such is not the case. Whether in the huge shops of Detroit or the vast farmlands of Nebraska, there is a gnawing fear of impending economic ruin.

There is indeed cause for alarm. Signs of an approaching economic crisis are increasing.

Production is falling. Unemployment is growing. Weekly earnings are declining as overtime pay disappears. The farmers are once again being caught in the desperate squeeze between high production costs and falling farm income. Small business bankruptcies are multiplying. Warehouses are loaded with $80 billions of unsold goods, while the American people still owe the unprecedented amount of $27 billions on installment purchases.

Human needs could easily absorb all that America can produce. But human needs and fabulous profits are opposite things. The corporations reap huge profits from the people's skill and labor. Corporation profits from the people's skill and labor. Corporation profits rose from $6½ billions in 1939 to $45 billions in 1953.

In contrast, the Government's Bureau of Labor Statistics admits that more than one-half of all American families cannot afford to buy the minimum requirements for decent, healthful living.

Since World War II, big business and the Government considered renewed arms production as the panacea to prevent depression and to keep profits high.

Military expenditures have increased more than twenty times since 1939.

But this is no answer. The increased expenditures for armaments and war are paid for by increased taxes and higher prices taken from the pockets of the people. Taxes today are more than twelve times higher than in 1939. The cost of living has more than doubled. Thus the real wages and buying power of the workers and farmers have been cut.

"Cold war" politics also led to an embargo on trade with one-third of the world--the Soviet Union, China and Eastern Europe. This reduced the ability to sell American goods abroad.

Finally, the over-expansion of the armament industries makes ever larger appropriations necessary to keep them going.

The arms economy is proving to be not the road to prosperity, but to economic ruin.

Big Business has no remedy for the chronic threat of economic crisis. It knows only one way to keep its industrial plants running and its lush profits flowing--by bigger war preparations, leading to even more barbaric wars. The "cure" it offers is worse than the disease.

The arms economy is strengthening the big monopolies at the expense of the nation--particularly of labor, the working farmers and small and middle-sized business. A few giant corporations have a stranglehold on the nation's industries. This hold is even further strengthened by the Administration's "give away" program to the monopolists.

There is an ever greater subordination of government to big business. The Eisenhower Administration is an administration of, by and for big business.

Corporate wealth -- General Motors, U. S. Steel, Standard Oil and du Pont -- America's biggest, richest and greediest trusts, run the U. S. Government just as surely as they run their own corporations, and for the same end of ever more exorbitant profits.

The monopolists are planning to turn the approaching economic crisis to their own advantage. They are preparing to put the American people through the wringer. They will throw millions of workers on the streets and attempt to cut the wages of those employed.

They strive to reduce their own taxes while keeping them high for lower income brackets.

They want to crush and wipe out little business, to force millions of small farmers off the land, to push the small owner to the wall and to foreclose on his home and property. They want to intensify the exploitation and oppression of the Negro people and to put more of our youth into uniforms. In short, they want to place the burden of hard times on the backs of the "little people." This is what they mean when they speak of

"limited recession" or "economic readjustment."

Above all, the monopolists will seek to use the approaching economic crisis to accelerate their drive for more and more armaments and for ultimate war.

But the American people are no longer going to accept hard times as just "hard luck," or as the process by which individuals are made "rugged" under capitalism. They refuse to blame themselves or fate for mass unemployment. They expect the economic system and the Government to guarantee them jobs at a living wage as workers, and a living income as farmers.

This very dread of economic depression is cleverly utilized by Wall Street to sell its "defense" program to the country as one to prevent depression and to safeguard peace.

However, big business now fears the indignation and wrath of the people when they learn that they have been hoodwinked.

Mr. Wilson told this story of a Scotch domine who played at length, giving the Lord much information and concluded with:

"And, oh Lord, there is much more of this matter, as Thou has doubtless read in the last number of the Edinburgh Review."

When Wilson was Governor of New Jersey, he received a phone call from Washington advising him that his good friend, a United States senator from New Jersey, had just died. Wilson was so shocked that he canceled all appointments and sat at his desk, stunned. Within a few minutes of receiving the bad news, he had a phone call from a New Jersey politician who said bluntly, "Governor, I would like to take the Senator's place." Wilson said nothing for a moment, and then replied, "Well, you may quote me as saying that's perfectly agreeable to me if it's agreeable to the undertaker."

Three Missouri Teens Win 4-H National Honors, Scholarships

Miss Vierling

Miss Claussen

Stemme

Three members of the Missouri delegation to the National 4-H Club Congress just concluded in Chicago came home with national honors and $500 college scholarships.

They are Olson Stemme, 19, of Marthasville, winner of the Ford Motor Company Fund's 4-H Achievement award; Louanne Claussen, 19, of Shellyville, winner of The Sears-Roebuck Foundation 4-H Community beautification award, and Theresa Vierling, 17, of St. Charles, winner of the Montgomery Ward 4-H Home Economics award.

The three young people had previously been named 1965 state winners in their projects. Their 4-H Club records were judged for the top awards by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Water Swirls over Bootheel Region

KENNETT -- Many residents of Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas continued to moan: "Water, water, everywhere!"

In many areas the high water of Jan. 1 has subsided but in other less fortunate sections much of that water still stands and was increased by the almost one inch of precipitation which fell Wednesday.

The Kennett Veterans of Foreign Wars opened their VFW Hut to 17 persons and the Salvation Army is supplying food for the evacuees from a particularly hard hit section east of the Floodway Ditches and south of Highway 84 where a levee on an Elk Chute drainage ditch is reported to have broken and inundated low-lying sections.

The VFW was making arrangements to procure sleeping cots and other necessary items for the evacuated families.

All across the Bootheel in Missouri drainage ditches were filled and overflowing this past weekend. By early Monday the floodwaters had receded in some areas but the additional rainfall yesterday only accelerated the rise in other sections.

Projects for Housing Win U. S. Approval

WASHINGTON -- The Public Housing Administration has approved loans for housing projects in Dunklin County and a planning project in Stoddard County.

The projects in Dunklin county will be at Cardwell and Senath.

A loan was approved for the Cardwell Housing Authority for $294,678, which included interest. The authority will build 22 low-rent homes in the city, of which 18 will be let out to elderly persons. Costs will run almost $9,000 for each house.

The housing administration also approved a loan of $408,633 for the construction of 32 low-rent houses in Senath. It was announced that 22 of these would be rented to elderly families. Cost of these houses would also be about $9,000 each. The project will be sponsored by the housing authority, issuing bonds to pay the loans. The bonds will be sold to private persons, it was announced.

The contract with the housing administration provides that rent subsidies will be used to help the elderly meet their monthly rental costs.

The housing administration also approved $20,000 for planning a project of 100 low-rent houses at Dexter. Seventy of these will be rented to elderly persons. Planning will be by the Dexter Housing Authority.

Strike Ends At Building

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Work

It was reported that the work on the classroom building did not resume.

The strike ended so far as the State College jobs are concerned with the agreement Thursday night between a southern Illinois contractors' group and the union.

Hornersville reported that, after four days of rain, the south part of the town was flooded and many families had to be evacuated from their homes.

Little River, which runs around Hornersville, had risen almost four feet in the past four days and water is backing up into the south section from a gap in the levee. The families who left their homes are now with friends and relatives until the water goes down and they are able to determine what part of their homes and goods can be saved.

Portageville residents reported that water reached a level in New Madrid County which had not been experienced there since 1945. The Wardell-Peach Orchard area reported great sections of land under water and schools were closed at Wardell through Tuesday because roads were impassable and school buses could not run their routes.

In Northeast Arkansas citizens began cleaning up and trying to get "business back to normal."

Hoover said the Communist party and other subversive groups supported and participated in various protests against U. S. policy. This was particularly true, he said, in the April 17 student march on Washington, the August Washington summer action project, the October international days of protest, the Nov. 23 march on Washington for peace in Viet Nam and the Nov. 25-28 national antiwar convention in Washington.

Hoover also reported: "Nearly 14,000 fugitives were located and 21,000 automobiles recovered in FBI-investigated cases -- both new highs."

The work of the FBI in the field of civil rights continued to expand.

The FBI files now contain more than 177 million sets of fingerprints.

Water Swirls over Bootheel Region

KENNETT -- Many residents of Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas continued to moan: "Water, water, everywhere!"

In many areas the high water of Jan. 1 has subsided but in other less fortunate sections much of that water still stands and was increased by the almost one inch of precipitation which fell Wednesday.

The Kennett Veterans of Foreign Wars opened their VFW Hut to 17 persons and the Salvation Army is supplying food for the evacuees from a particularly hard hit section east of the Floodway Ditches and south of Highway 84 where a levee on an Elk Chute drainage ditch is reported to have broken and inundated low-lying sections. The VFW was making arrangements to procure sleeping cots and other necessary items for the evacuated families.

All across the Bootheel in Missouri drainage ditches were filled and overflowing this past weekend. By early Monday the floodwaters had receded in some areas but the additional rainfall yesterday only accelerated the rise in other sections.

Reds Have Big Anti-War Role

WASHINGTON (AP) -- FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today the Communist party has played an ever-increasing role in generating opposition to the U. S. position in Viet Nam.

Hoover said also that the party is trying to attract more youth and is making plans to take a more active part in the 1966 elections, running candidates wherever possible.

In his annual report to the attorney general on FBI activities during 1965, Hoover said:

"Always eager to engage in any activity which will bring embarrassment to the United States, the party has played an ever-increasing role in generating opposition to the United States position in Viet Nam.

"In September 1965, party headquarters sent a directive to all districts giving instructions on slogans to be used in protests against United States action in Viet Nam. In addition, the party has expended large sums of fingerprints.

Hoover also reported:

WEEK OF PRAYER—Silhouettes of praying figures dominate the official poster for the Jan. 18-25 Week of Prayer for Christian Unity sponsored by the Faith and Order Department of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and the World Council of Churches. The observance also is recommended by the Bishops' Commission for Ecumenical Affairs, an association of U.S. Roman Catholic bishops. Theme for the week is: "I Will Be Their God, And They Shall Be My People" (Ezekiel 37:27).

THE Outlook for Business for the first six months of 1966

APPLIANCE INDUSTRY
Joseph S. Wright, President
Zenith Radio Corporation
With the sustained current growth cycle of our economy—the longest in history—the life of the forecaster has been relatively easy; and it has been a long time since the optimist in December has had to eat his words in June.

The very length of this favorable cycle and the levels to which it has carried our economy are themselves limiting factors in a few minds. But, I can't see how the length and strength of the current cycle can be turned around into a sign of weakness.

I have a friend who is fond of pointing out that everything is good or bad in relation to something else, and we are now comparing the first half of 1965, which was very good indeed for the appliance business, to what we hope to do in 1966.

Nevertheless, I am going to go along with a prediction that the appliance industry in the first six months of 1966 will show another period of good growth and progress. Disposable income, employment, and the other principal indicators strongly point to this result.

As a matter of fact, the consumer, who has been the "star" of the economy in the last half of this year, will do it again in 1966. In the major appliance field of white goods, 1965 has shown gains in almost every category, and through September total sales for the industry were up about 5 per cent. Despite the good period of the first half of 1965, it is expected that a similar 5 per cent gain can be achieved in the first half of 1966.

In the field of small appliances, the consumer potential for individual portable appliances appears to be insatiable. The market will be limited only by the ingenuity and inventiveness of the industry. Inventiveness and ingenuity are in good supply in this industry; and new products like portable hair dryers, electric knives and toothbrushes, and a whole spectrum of cordless small appliances have opened up new markets. The industry expects that 1966 will continue to bring a harvest of new products, new styling, and innovations to take cost out of existing products, supporting a good gain in the first half of 1966.

In consumer electronics we have, of course, the hottest consumer item in many years in the form of color television. Color has had an increase of more than 100 per cent so far in 1965; and we see the further gain in the first half of 1966 limited only by the industry's capacity to produce color tubes.

Incidentally, 1965 is also going to be a record year for black and white television, at least in terms of unit sales, and we can see no slackening in the demand for black and white receivers—at least over the first half of next year. Black and white TV will tend more and more to table and portable models, with a reduction in average unit prices; but there will still be a respectable console black and white business in 1966. As a matter of fact, the inventory at the wholesale level in both black and white and color TV will be well below normal by year-end, with almost no working field inventory in color. It will take the industry some time to fill up the pipes in the first half of next year and to reach a normal working inventory. If retail demand remains at current strong levels, as we anticipate, the industry may be pressed to reach a normal inventory situation during the first half. Phonographs, fidelity, and radio should also be very good in this period, based on current sales trends.

One of the phenomenal things about our business has been the way apparently obsolete products have held up in the face of new star products. For instance, black and white TV was supposed to have killed off radio, just as color television was supposed to have killed off black and white. But, the American public will have bought close to 30 million radio receivers in the year 1965, which is an astonishing number of radio receivers. Whatever happened to all of them, I haven't the faintest idea.

The market for phonographs and stereo instruments increased in 1965 to an unprecedented 6 million level from an average 5 million year, aided by the increased teenage population and the popularity of the Beatles. We look for continued growth in this area as the teenage group grows to over 25 million persons next year and again another one million families are formed.

To summarize—behind the ever-increasing demand for home products is not only the greatest consumer optimism and confidence, but also the highest employment and the highest amount of disposable income. So, we are looking forward in our consumer electronics industry to a very busy first half 1966, with lots of second and third shift operations and overtime employment here in the City of Chicago. I find it difficult to put a precise percentage figure on what the industry will do by way of an increase, but it should be a solid 20 per cent.

River Dikes To Be Built Above Ohio

CAPE GIRARDEAU—Counties included in the $1.9 million U.S. Army Corps of Engineers river of construction contract are Cape, Mississippi, Scott and Perry in Missouri, and Alexander, Union, Jackson and Randolph in Illinois.

A major portion of the project will be to construct stone fill dikes along the 106 miles of Mississippi River above the mouth of the Ohio River. The contract calls for the use of 1.1 million tons of stones.

Norbert C. Long of the Cape Girardeau office of Engineers said that three quarries will be used to provide the stone. One of these will be the quarry at Grays Point.

The contract, part of a project to stabilize the river bank and maintain a 9-foot channel, was awarded to Eugene Luhr and Co., Columbia, Ill.; Massman Construction Co., Kansas City, and Patton-Tully Transportation Co., Memphis, Tenn.

The three contractors will work simultaneously on the project, Mr. Long said. He added that river conditions would determine when work would start. The contract calls for work to be completed within 400 days, but Mr. Long reported that actual completion may take two years, depending on river condition.

The contractors are required by the contract to keep river navigation obstruction at a minimum.

Long said that any surplus material remaining after the dikes were constructed would be used on parts of the river bank that need repair. The exact number of dikes to be constructed has been determined, but the information was not available.

Then there was the Capuchin reknowned for his teaching that the use of force is never justified. Someone asked him once what he would do if he discovered a burglar in his house. "I would get a gun," he said. "Then I would tell the burglar, 'I don't wish you any harm, but you're standing where I am about to shoot!'"

No Date Set For Work on Floodway Levee

CHARLESTON—No date has yet been set for start of construction on improvements to the Birds Point-New Madrid Floodway levee authorized by Congress Oct. 27.

The work depends on four factors, Carder said:

Acquisition by the federal government of any modified easements required;

Engineering and designing of the authorized improvements;

Acquisition of the local levee districts of construction right-of-way; and

Appropriation of necessary funds by Congress.

Public Law 89-298, approved October 27 by the 89th Congress, authorized the improvement of the Birds Point to New Madrid front line levee. Estimated total cost of the work is $1,190,000 including $350,000 for a new drainage structure at Pea Field Bayou, Carder said.

THE COST OF CONSTRUCTION will be at federal expense, Carder indicated, adding that it will be the responsibility of Levee District No. 3 of Mississippi County, and St. John Levee and Drainage District to furnish all right-of-way required for borrow areas, and for the increased levee embankment base widths required for the levee improvements in each district.

Preliminary studies show, Carder said, that essentially all the required right-of-way will be located riverward of the existing levee.

The floodway as originally authorized was designed to operate as a relief channel to reduce stage in the Mississippi River exceeding 55 feet at Cairo by overtopping fuse plug sections near the upper and lower ends of the levee. Under present conditions, the upper fuse plug section has an effective height of about 57 feet on the Cairo gauge. The remainder of the levee grades varying from 60 feet on the Cairo gauge to 55 feet in the 3.2 miles of the lower fuse plug section.

Public Law 89-298 authorized the raising of the fuse plug sections to a grade equivalent to 60 feet on the Cairo gauge, and a comparable increase in grade on the remaining levee. The added protection given the residents of the floodway is thus five feet more than the 1928 authorized grade, equivalent to 55 feet at Cairo; or approximately three feet more than the actual existing fuse plug levee. The estimated frequency of occurrence of 55 feet at Cairo is once in 17 years, and of 60 feet at Cairo is once in 80 years, the engineer said.

Public Law 89-298 authorized the acquisition at federal expense of any modified easements required. The type of modification of existing easements and the necessity therefore are under study, Carder said.

A GRAVITY OUTLET STRUCTURE (floodgate) with contiguous levee embankment was authorized by the Flood Control Act of September 3, 1954. The construction has not been accomplished since the levee encountered overwhelming individual opposition. However, a restudy of this problem has been directed (but not funded) by a Public Works Committee Resolution dated April, 1965. This study will consider the engineering and economic feasibility of a pumping plant in addition to gravity outflow.

Carder said he expects opposition to this structure by local people will be removed or moderated, if a plan can be developed to reduce impounded interior drainage during high stages on the river by pumping. The plan must, he added, be economically justified.

Six File for Dunklin Offices

MALDEN—Six Dunklin County officeholders have filed for re-election.

Roy B. (Skinny) King of Malden has filed for re-election as state representative. County officers seeking re-election are: County Clerk Billy Horner, Circuit Clerk Brydon Ross, Recorder of Deeds Donald Parker, and Associate Judge of the County Court Carl McFarland of Campbell.

Have You Met Our Hugh Mulligan? ...he only writes what he knows!

When Hugh Mulligan of The Associated Press tells you what it's like to be in someone else's shoes, you can believe it. He's been there.

For a story on the Metropolitan Opera he wasn't satisfied until he had carried a spear in a performance of "Otello." He spent a sunburned weekend getting the bare facts for a story on nudist camps. And his story on a day in the life of a sidewalk Santa was preceded by a day in Hugh Mulligan's life as St. Nick—complete with bell, boots, beard and a booming, "Ho, Ho, Ho."

Mulligan's zeal for research is matched by his talent for writing. The combination has produced memorable accounts of important events of our time. Hugh Mulligan covered the death of Pope John; the first Irish-American president's joyous tour of Ireland; and the tragic days of John F. Kennedy's journey from Dallas to Arlington.

Now Mulligan is in Viet Nam, adding his talent to AP's superb coverage of the frontline news.

And so it goes with Hugh Mulligan—if he's been there, millions of readers know what it's really like.

THE

Outlook for Business

for the first six months of 1966

APPLIANCE INDUSTRY
Joseph S. Wright, President
Zenith Radio Corporation
With the sustained current growth cycle of our economy—the longest in history—the life of the forecaster has been relatively easy; and it has been a long time since the optimist in December has had to eat his words in June.

The very length of this favorable cycle and the levels to which it has carried our economy are themselves limiting factors in a few minds. But, I can't see how the length and strength of the current cycle can be turned around into a sign of weakness.

I have a friend who is fond of pointing out that everything is good or bad in relation to something else, and we are now comparing the first half of 1965, which was very good indeed for the appliance business, to what we hope to do in 1966.

Nevertheless, I am going to go along with a prediction that the appliance industry in the first six months of 1966 will show another period of good growth and progress. Disposable income, employment, and the other principal indicators strongly point to this result.

As a matter of fact, the consumer, who has been the "star" of the economy in the last half of this year, will do it again in 1966. In the major appliance field of white goods, 1965 has shown gains in almost every category, and through September total sales for the industry were up about 5 per cent. Despite the good period of the first half of 1965, it is expected that a similar 5 per cent gain can be achieved in the first half of 1966.

In the field of small appliances, the consumer potential for individual portable appliances appears to be insatiable. The market will be limited only by the ingenuity and inventiveness of the industry. Inventiveness and ingenuity are in good supply in this industry; and new products like portable hair dryers, electric knives and toothbrushes, and a whole spectrum of cordless small appliances have opened up new markets. The industry expects that 1966 will continue to bring a harvest of new products, new styling, and innovations to take cost out of existing products, supporting a good gain in the first half of 1966.

In consumer electronics we have, of course, the hottest consumer item in many years in the form of color television. Color has had an increase of more than 100 per cent so far in 1965; and we see the further gain in the first half of 1966 limited only by the industry's capacity to produce color tubes.

Incidentally, 1965 is also going to be a record year for black and white television, at least in terms of unit sales, and we can see no slackening in the demand for black and white receivers—at least over the first half of next year. Black and white TV will tend more and more to table and portable models, with a reduction in average unit prices; but there will still be a respectable console black and white business in 1966. As a matter of fact, the inventory at the wholesale level in both black and white and color TV will be well below normal by year-end, with almost no working field inventory in color. It will take the industry some time to fill up the pipes in the first half of next year and to reach a normal working in-

One of the phenomenal things about our business has been the way apparently obsolete products have held up in the face of new star products. For instance, black and white TV was supposed to have killed off radio, just as color television was supposed to have killed off black and white. But, the American market has been the "star" of the economy in the last half of this year, will do it again in 1966. In the major appliance field of white goods, 1965 has shown gains in almost every category, and through September total sales for the industry were up about 5 per cent. ican public will have bought close to 30 million radio receivers in the year 1965, which is an astonishing number of radio receivers. Whatever happened to all of them, I haven't the faintest idea.

The market for phonographs and stereo instruments increased in 1965 to an unprecedented 6 million level from an average 5 million year, aided by the increased teenage population and the popularity of the Beatles. We look for continued growth in this area as the teenage group grows to over 25 million persons next year and again another one million families are formed.

To summarize—behind the ever-increasing demand for home products is not only the greatest consumer optimism and confidence, but also the highest employment and the highest amount of disposable income. So, we are looking forward in our consumer electronics industry to a very busy first half 1966, with lots of second and third shift operations and overtime employment here in the City of Chicago. I find it difficult to put a precise percentage figure on what the industry will do by way of an increase, but it should be a good solid 20 per cent.

River Dikes To Be Built Above Ohio

CAPE GIRARDEAU—Counties included in the $1.9 million U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' river of construction contract are Cape, Mississippi, Scott and Perry in Missouri, and Alexander, Union, Jackson and Randolph in Illinois.

A major portion of the project will be to construct stone fill dikes along the 106 miles of Mississippi River above the mouth of the Ohio River. The contract calls for the use of 1.1 million tons of stones.

Norbert C. Long of the Cape Girardeau office of Engineers said that three quarries will be used to provide the stone. One of these will be the quarry at Grays Point.

The contract, part of a project to stabilize the river bank and maintain a 9-foot channel, was awarded to Eugene Luhr and Co., Columbia, Ill.; Massman Construction Co., Kansas City, and Patton-Tully Transportation Co., Memphis, Tenn.

The three contractors will work simultaneously on the project, Mr. Long said. He added that river conditions would determine when work would start. The contract calls

No Date Set For Work on Floodway Levee

CHARLESTON—No date has yet been set for start of construction on improvements to the Birds Point-New Madrid Floodway levee authorized by Congress Oct. 27.

The work depends on four factors, Carder said:

Acquisition by the federal government of any modified easements required;

Engineering and designing of the authorized improvements;

Acquisition of the local levee districts of construction right-of-way; and

Appropriation of necessary funds by Congress.

Public Law 89-298, approved October 27 by the 89th Congress, authorized the improvement of the Birds Point to New Madrid front line levee. Estimated total cost of the work is $1,190,000 including $350,000 for a new drainage structure at Pea Field Bayou, Carder said.

The COST OF construction will be at federal expense, Carder indicated, adding that it will be the responsibility of Levee District No. 3 of Mississippi County, and St. John Levee and Drainage District to furnish all right-of-way required for borrow areas, and for the increased levee embankment base widths required for the levee improvements in each district.

Preliminary studies show, Carder said, that essentially all the required right-of-way will be located riverward of the existing levee.

The floodway as originally authorized was designed to operate as a relief channel to reduce stage in the Mississippi River exceeding 55 feet at Cairo by overtopping fuse plug sections near the upper and lower ends of the levee. Under present conditions, the upper fuse plug section has an effective height of about 57 feet on the Cairo gauge. The remainder of the levee grades varying from 60 feet on the Cairo gauge to 55 feet in the 3.2 miles of the lower fuse plug section.

Public Law 89-298 authorized the raising of the fuse plug sections to a grade equivalent to 60 feet on the Cairo gauge, and a comparable increase in grade on the remaining levee. The added protection given the residents of the floodway is thus five feet more than the 1928 authorized grade, equivalent to 55 feet at Cairo; or approximately three feet more than the actual existing fuse plug levee.

The estimated frequency of occurrence of 55 feet at Cairo is once in 17 years, and of 60 feet at Cairo is once in 80 years, the engineer said.

Carder said he expects opposition to this structure by local people will be removed or moderated, if a plan can be developed to reduce impounded the acquisition at federal expense of any modified easements required. The type of the plan must, he added, be modification of existing easements and the necessity therefore are under study, Carder said.

A GRAVITY outlet structure (floodgate) with contiguous levee embankment was authorized by the Flood Control Act of September 3, 1954.

The construction has not been accomplished since the levee district encountered overwhelming individual opposition. However, a restudy of this problem has been directed (but not funded) by a Public Works Committee Resolution dated April, 1965. This study will consider the engineering and economic feasibility of a pumping plant in addition to gravity outflow.

Carder said he expects opposition to this structure by local people will be removed or moderated, if a plan can be developed to reduce impounded interior drainage during high stages on the river by pumping.

The plan must, he added, be economically justified.

Two persons were burned, one seriously and the Weller building, located in the 100 block on Center street, was damaged probably to the extent of several thousand dollars, when gas that had accumulated in an oven of the Hart's Bakery on the first floor, exploded Sunday morning after an employee had attempted to relight a gas burner. Roy B. Wallace, a baker, suffered major burns about the arms, face, chest, back and neck. Elwood Kinder, another baker, who was standing near Wallace when the explosion occurred, was burned about the arms, forehead and neck.

Charles W. Henson

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. -- Airman Third Class Charles W. Henson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henson of 212 Cresap St., Sikeston, Mo., has arrived for duty at Blytheville AFB, Ark.

Airman Henson, an air policeman, recently completed technical training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He is a member of the Strategic Air Command, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force.

The airman is graduate of Sikeston High School.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. -- Billy D. Reece, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Reece of Fairland, Okla., has been promoted to technical sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sergeant Reece is a communications analysis technician at Kelly AFB, Tex.

Dear Girl: Your idea is good but your approach is wrong. Most well-groomed men ask their barbers to do those little chores. Barbers use scissors not tweezers. Suggest this to Frank and let's hope he goes for the Great Divide.

Dear Anne: My story is not new, but it might sound different coming from a mother. Our 16-year-old daughter couldn't say "no" and she became pregnant.

No girl can imagine what a mother goes through when she gets such news -- not until she hears it from HER own daughter, God forbid.

Her father and I stood by. We never belittled her or shed a tear in her presence. But we cried plenty at night behind closed doors. With the help of a wonderful family doctor we made arrangements to send her to a home for unwed mothers.

Two days before she was to leave she had a normal miscarriage. Now several months later, things are quiet and she is dating several nice young men.

I hope all young girls who read this letter will ask themselves: "How would my mother and father react to an announcement that I am pregnant?" -- A MOTHER STILL IN SHOCK

Dear Mother: Thanks for a powerful letter. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Dear Ann Landers: I disagree with your advice that the father should tell his young children whose mother committed suicide that, "Mommy took the wrong medicine and it made her very sick and God called her to heaven."

This is a perfect example of telling children a lie that might scar them for life.

A child who is given such ideas will be terrified every time he has to take medicine or be vaccinated. He will live in fear that he is taking the wrong medicine or that the doctor may be making a mistake.

I am 33 years old and I am still trying to overcome some of the fears instilled in me during childhood by parents who thought it best not to tell the truth. -- ETHEL

Dear Ethel: Sorry but we still disagree. I think it's better to tell a child that "Mommy took the wrong medicine" than to say "Mommy killed herself."

Sometimes young children of suicide victims feel it was their fault, that they failed the parent. This can be far more damaging than the fear of taking the wrong medicine.

Unsure of your dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR: AND YE SHALL KNOW THE TRUTH" (ST. JOHN 8:22)

AND THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE

The majority of adults have forgotten the FOUNDATIONS of our beloved America. These FOUNDATIONS are evidently NOT taught in a large percentage of high-schools and colleges. In the last 30 years they have been nearly destroyed. Our votes in the 1966 election might be our last chance of stopping the 30 year decline toward socialist bondage - like the always - and still - socialist-riden European countries that the Pilgrims fled from.

This writer suggests, that EVERY patriotic, freedom-loving American - and neighborhood groups thereof throughout our land - secure, read and discuss several small books, before the 1966 election time. First - an 80 page book, "FIAT MONEY IN FRANCE," written by Andrew Dickson White in the 1800's. It is published by The Caxton Printers, Ltd., Caldwell, Idaho. Price $1.00. This book shows WHY our forefathers insisted on a gold standard, and a printed promise in our government bonds to redeem them in gold at maturity. France has never fully recovered from its bloody revolution in the 1790's, caused by destroying its gold standard and printing unlimited fiat moneys and bonds. The so-called, smartest, socialist politicians in France did this - just as we have allowed a new crop of them to do the same to us, in the last 30 years. America is DOOMED to repeat history, if we do not resurrect the gold standard, national solvency, and our U.S. Constitution.

The second is just a booklet - "The Revolution Was" by Garet Garrett, available from the Caxton Printers, Ltd., for 50¢. Just read it - and decide for yourselves. We must awaken to the fact, that most of our people, over the last 30 years, made the same mistake of trusting and following power-hungry, gold-en-voiced, socialist politicians - as did the people in Germany who worshiped Hitler - Italy, Mussolini, England after the last war, socialist labor leaders. The many who still worship a President elected in 1932 - cannot, if they read the FACTS in this booklet - refute his deliberate determination to build personal and one-party power - by returning our people to the socialist-state, that our forefathers fought the revolutionary war to eliminate.

To do this - necessitated the destruction of our gold standard - the destruction of our U.S. Constitution - the control of the Supreme Court by packing it with socialist politicians - elimination of the sovereign states' and individual rights - and replacing LIMITED Federal functions with UNLIMITED FEDERAL CONTROL. President Roosevelt started a revolution in reverse and succeeding Presidents to date have nearly completed the job.

The third little book, "Nine Men Against America," by Rosalie M. Gordon, and published by the Devin-Adair Company, New York, gives the history of the nine men of our Supreme Court, and their unconstitutional decisions, over the past 30 years. The ONLY function of our Supreme Court, is to decide cases brought to it, in accordance with the word of our Constitution, and the intentions of the learned men who framed it. For 150 years - until 30 years ago - our patriotic, U.S. Constitution-believing Supreme Courts, did not dream of exceeding their limited authority. But - the past 30 years - packed Supreme Courts invented NEW definitions of wording and NEW intentions, NEVER dreamed of by our learned Founding Fathers. Their unconstitutional, socialist decisions are rearranging our properties, lives, freedoms and religions.

The fourth - and extremely important source of information - is available from Americans For Constitutional Action, vency, etc. - BUT VOTE IN Congress for most if not everything that is destroying these foundations of America. Voting blindly for Congressmen and State Legislators - upon WHAT THEY SAY AND PROMISE - without examination of HOW they vote in Assembly, allows them to destroy our beloved America - constitutionally, economically, morally - and yes - religiously.

Two persons were burned, one seriously and the Weller building, located in the 100 block on Center street, was damaged probably to the extent of several thousand dollars, when gas that had accumulated in an oven of the Hart's Bakery on the first floor, exploded Sunday morning after an employee had attempted to relight a gas burner.

Roy B. Wallace, a baker, suffered major burns about the arms, face, chest, back and neck. Elwood Kinder, another baker, who was standing near Wallace when the explosion occurred, was burned about the arms, forehead & neck.

THE PRAYER For Today From The Upper Room

Behold I send the promise of my Father upon you. (Luke 24:49)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, Father, for the assurances we find in Thy Word. Help us to trust in them, knowing that, as Jesus came to fulfill Thy most precious promise for our salvation, so He will return as promised to claim us for His own. In His name we praise Thee, praying as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . . Amen."

Ozzie Little Exposed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ozzie, head of the clan Nelson, didn't have much more than a walk-on in his ABC show Wednesday night. It was a bit of nonsense involving his son Rick, Rick's wife and life in what Hollywood obviously believes is a college fraternity house.

However, in the half-hour, the gnawing thought occurred that in all the years that "Ozzie and Harriet" and their expanding family have been around television, it has never been made clear what the head of the house does for a living. Most television heroes have visible if sometimes vaguely defined means of support.

The father of "My Three Sons" is an engineer. Donna Reed's television husband is a doctor and so are Kildare, Castle and "The Fugitive."

But there just don't seem to be any shows in which the stars are just plain salary-drawing, working people. Sure, there's "Hazel" who is ostensibly a domestic but she's really a combination board chairwoman and mother who cooks and serves but is rarely caught waxing a floor.

Why? Probably because television entertainment is primarily escape ... and looking at a man working on a factory production line or bouncing along in a truck doesn't offer much escape for the weary.

NBC, which has been trailing CBS in the biweekly national Nielsen ratings, reported happily today that it was out in front in the latest report which covers the first two weeks of December. NBC had a 20.2 average rating for the period, followed by CBS with 19.3 and ABC, with 16.7.

Top 10 shows, according to the report, were Bonanza, the Charlie Brown Christmas special, the Red Skelton Show, the Danny Thomas special tied with the Lucy Show, the Walt Disney Hour, Gomer Pyle, the Andy Griffith Show, and the Beverly Hillbillies tied with the Man from U.N.C.L.E.

worse."

When Sgt. Harmon first reached Saigon, he wrote: "Honey, you should see this city. I have never seen anything like it in my life. Little children younger than Dennis are running around naked and a lot of them have no homes. And it looks like no one seems to care. It's much more dangerous here in the city than out in the country. You can never tell when some 10 or 12-year-old kid will run out at your bus and throw a hand grenade into it. They did it just the other day."

"I'll sure be glad when I get out of here. There is a curfew on us now. We have to be in our hotels from dusk until daylight. "I have a little statement that was printed in the Stars and Stripes (Army newspaper). I wish you would give it to The Democrat-Argus and see if they will print it."

Here is the statement: Neither silent nor holy is Christmas in this land of war. There is no calm, no peace. But ravaged plains. And burning towns and ruined swamps, And broken limbs and dying groans, And widow's tears and orphan's moans.

But is it so different than it has always been? Even that year, when a Prince of Peace was born into a kingdom of combat, there was torment and suffering over the land.

Christmas, 1965, 12,000 miles from home, will be neither silent nor holy. Man is a slave to his rifle.

But still he believes, he hopes. For whether on the scaffold high, Or in the battle's van.

The fittest place where man can die Is where he dies for man.

Is where he dies for man.

These people really don't know what they are doing. It's not surprising that it's taking so long to get this war over with. And this really is a war. Korea was nothing like this.

Christmas in Viet Nam No Picnic

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Christmas in Viet Nam was no picnic.

Sgt. 1st/C James (Jimmy) Harmon, career soldier from Caruthersville, wrote to his wife, who lives at 602 Locust: "... last night the VC (Viet Cong) sent some mortar rounds into our camp. It was Christmas night. One man was killed and 12 wounded. ... I have a shirt sleeve that was torn all to pieces by shrapnel from the mortars, and, Sweetheart, not a piece hit me."

"Thank Annie's (Mrs. Annie Johnson, Sgt. Harmon's grandmother who lives at 500 East 7th) Bible for me, will you. I had to cut the sleeve off at the elbow."

Sgt. Harmon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Harmon, of the Locust address. Sgt. Harmon attended Caruthersville High School. He spent 16 months in Alaska, returning with Mrs. Harmon and their four sons in September. He was home 30 days and then reported to Fort Bragg, N. C., from where he left for Viet Nam on Dec. 14.

The four sons are Johnny 11; Michael 7; Jerry 5, and Dennis 2.

Sgt. Harmon has been in service 16 years and served in Korea in 1950 and 51.

In a letter to Mrs. Harmon, the sergeant wrote:

Symington Returns to Washington

WASHINGTON -- Missouri's senior Senator, Stuart Symington, flew in to Washington Sunday from Cairo, Egypt, to be on hand for the opening of the second session of the 89th Congress today.

Since Thanksgiving, Symington has spent six weeks mostly in the Pacific during which he visited military operations and bases in Alaska, Hawaii, Korea, Taiwan, Okinawa, and South Viet Nam.

In the Philippines he was senior observer for the senate in the conferences on the Asian Development Bank and visited top officials in Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, and Egypt.

During his trip he met with thousands of U.S. servicemen, including hundreds from Mis-

Symington spent Christmas Eve and Christmas Day in Korea, and was in South Viet Nam on New Years Day, spending seven days there visiting the troops in combat as well as with top U.S. officials. He had planned to stop off at U.S. NATO operations in Turkey, Italy, Germany, France and England on the way back, but instead cut his trip short at Cairo in order to fly straight through to Washington for the opening of the second session in which our policies abroad are expected to come up for frequent debate.

"I'll sure be glad when I get out of here. There is a curfew on us now. We have to be in our hotels from dusk until daylight. "I have a little statement that was printed in the Stars and stripes (Army newspaper). I wish you would give it to The Democrat-Argus and see if they will print it."

Here is the statement: Neither silent nor holy is Christmas in this land of war. There is no calm, no peace. But ravaged plains. And burning towns and ruined swamps. And broken limbs and dying groans, And widow's tears and orphan's moans.

But is it so different than it has always been? Even that year, when a Prince of Peace was born into a kingdom of combat, there was torment and suffering over the land. Christmas, 1965, 12,000 miles from home, will be neither silent nor holy. Man is a slave to his rifle.

Nubians Settle Down to New Way of Life in Aswan

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Their exodus over, the Nubians of upper Egypt are at last succeeding in settling down to a new way of life at Aswan.

Uprooted from a beloved homeland as old as history, more than 70,000 Nubians now seem convinced they have to adapt themselves to new conditions and overcome homesickness. Their once sacred villages now lie beneath Lake Nasser, rising behind the Aswan Dam.

The Nubians, whose forefathers once invaded and ruled Pharaonic Egypt, consider themselves a purer people than their fellow Aswans. Tall, slim and tough, Nubians pride themselves on a glorious history and old traditions. Even when they go to Cairo and Alexandria to work as porters or servants they demonstrate this sense of pride. They are known for their cleanliness and honesty.

Late in 1964, the Egyptian government mobilized steamers and sailboats to start the Nubian exodus, perhaps the most dramatic in this area since Moses' flight with the Israelites from the Egyptian Nile delta to Palestine.

Nubians were reluctant to leave. Officials had to convince them that their land was doomed and would be submerged forever as Lake Nasser filled for 314 miles behind the dam.

They were promised better homes, better fields and more money, but Nubians moved only when they felt they had to leave.

Witnesses to the departure from the village of Ballana, near the Sudanese border, said tears streamed down the face of young and old as they stripped their homes of doors and windows. Some kissed the ground and the walls. They kept looking back at abandoned houses and the cemetery where their dead were buried.

One woman, a widow, was heard addressing her dead husband: "I leave despite myself. I leave you to the care of God who never sleeps. Farewell now, I long for the day when this soil will combine us forever."

Every adult carried a sack full of earth, a barakah—source of blessing—from the land they left behind.

At Aswan, workers and students were mobilized to receive them with songs and flowers. But few Nubians smiled.

Although they found their new villages neatly built, they spent their first nights in the open air, unwilling to accept the new life.

Most had farmland, which they started immediately to till. Others were told they had to wait until the dam made possible the reclamation of 1.2 million acres. Meanwhile, they were given jobs on the dam. Others went away on their own, seeking jobs as porters, cooks or servants in Cairo. Young Nubians were encouraged to join the Egyptian army.

The new villages at Kom Ombo, 24 miles north of Aswan, bear the names of the submerged villages. Ballana has become New Ballana, Debed is New Debed, and so on.

Heavily veiled women rarely are seen outside their houses. Men seldom visit the city of Aswan.

Ozzie Little Exposed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ozzie, head of the clan Nelson, didn't have much more than a walk-on in his ABC show Wednesday night. It was a bit of nonsense involving his son Rick, Rick's wife and life in what Hollywood obviously believes is a college fraternity house.

However, in the half-hour, the gawking thought occurred that in all the years that "Ozzie and Harriet" and their expanding family have been around television, it has never been made clear what the head of the house does for a living. Most television heroes have visible if sometimes vaguely defined means of support.

The father of "My Three Sons" is an engineer. Donna Reed's television husband is a doctor and so are Kildare, Cass and "The Fugitive."

But there just don't seem to be any shows in which the stars are just plain salary-drawing, working people. Sure, there's "Hazel" who is ostensibly a domestic but she's really a combination board chairman and mother who cooks and serves but is rarely caught waxing a floor.

Why? Probably because television entertainment is primarily escape--and looking at a man working on a factory production line or bouncing along in a truck doesn't offer much escape for the weary.

NBC, which has been trailing CBS in the biweekly national Nielsen ratings, reported happily today that it was out in front in the latest report which covers the first two weeks of December. NBC had a 20.2 average rating for the period, followed by CBS with 19.3 and ABC, with 16.7.

Top 10 shows, according to the report, were Bonanza, the Charlie Brown Christmas special, the Red Skelton Show, the Danny Thomas special tied with the Lucy Show, the Walt Disney Hour, Gomer Pyle, the Andy Griffith Show, and the Beverly Hillbillies tied with the Man from U.N.C.L.E.

This is the statement: Neither silent nor holy is Christmas in this land of war. There is no calm, no peace. But ravaged plains. And burning towns and ruined swamps. And broken limbs and dying groans, And widow's tears and orphan's moans.

Grave Charges on File Against Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker — the man Lyndon B. Johnson once called "my strong right arm" — has been charged with a tangled, three-year skein of financial wrongdoing carrying grave criminal penalties.

A federal grand jury ended a 15-month investigation by charging the former secretary to Senate Democrats with fraud, tax evasion, grandlarceny, conspiracy and illegal transportation of stolen money.

The crimes set forth in the nine-count indictment, returned Wednesday in U.S. District Court, could mean a maximum prison sentence of 48 years and $47,000 in fines for the soft-spoken, 37-year-old lawyer-tycoon.

Baker was reached by telephone Wednesday night at "Bobby Baker's Carousel," the plush motel he owns at the seaside resort of Ocean City, Md.

He calmly referred all questions to his lawyers — who said "no comment."

Baker's arraignment is set for Jan. 20.

According to the grand jury, Baker's alleged criminal activity began in mid-1962 and continued through last Oct. 18 — two years after he had quit his Senate post under fire, become a headline personality, and been the subject of a stormy, name-calling investigation by a Senate committee.

The grand jury did not — as the Senate Rules Committee had recommended — indict Baker for conflict-of-interest violations. But it did charge that he:

—Understated his income by $54,559 for 1961-62 and evaded $23,091 in income taxes for those years;

—Coauthor with his father, Andrew Thomas Weaver of "A Letter From Empire Prairie, Andrew County, Missouri," which appeared in the October, 1955, issue of the Missouri Historical Review and dealt with his ancestors, the Bennett family, who migrated during the closing years of the Civil War from Quebec to northwest Missouri where they homesteaded.

It was as a Wisconsin U. debater that Dr. Weaver first became acquainted with the Missouri campus. In the 1930s he came to Columbia as team captain to debate and won a decision over an M. U. team on compulsory R. O. T. C. training. Wisconsin, at the time, was the only land-grant college that made military training optional instead of compulsory.

Dr. Weaver will step into the administrative vacancy that will be created upon retirement Aug. 31 of President Ellis, who reaches the mandatory retirement age for administrators of 65 July 27.

Under President Ellis the University has undergone its greatest expansion, from a university with an annual budget of under $17 million to a four-campus system with an operating budget that approaches $85 million annually and from an enrollment of 10,861 students confined to the Columbia and Rolla campuses to 33,583 enrolled in the Columbia, Rolla, St. Louis and Kansas City divisions.

Johnson has refused to discuss the Baker case publicly since he entered the presidency.

—Conspired with a Washington coal lobbyist, Wayne L. Bromley, to camouflage large portions of his 1963-64 income as legal fees to Bromley, "secretly and surreptitiously" taking the money himself;

—Fraudulently obtained $33,000 from a Los Angeles savings and loan officer, illegally carried it across state lines and failed to report it as taxable income;

—Helped prepare a false tax return for Bromley to conceal income that went to Baker; and —Took by "felonious conversion" or theft, $67,000 from two Los Angeles savings and loan executives, in each case failing to report much of it as taxable income.

The grand jury also indicted former Lieutenant governor of Nevada, Clifford Jones, on three false statements Jones made to the jury last March. Jones' indictment carries a maximum penalty of 15 years and $6,000.

Jones and Bromley are named as co-conspirators in the conspiracy count against Baker. They are not defendants, however.

Baker was Democratic secretary when Johnson, then a Texas senator, was Democratic leader. The two worked closely together and Johnson once described Baker as "one of my most trusted, most loyal and most competent friends."

In addition, hospital earnings will be set aside for use only on capital improvements.

Ulett explained "this gets the hospitals out of the terrible bind of not knowing whether they will have enough money to buy food and drugs."

Previously the legislature has ordered that earnings be used to help pay operational costs but the hospitals do not know in advance what their annual earnings will be.

The proposed budget includes a five per cent across-the-board salary increase for all employees plus some additional increases for certain professional workers. It also provides for some additional jobs at the hospitals, a 10 per cent increase for operations and a 10 per cent increase for additions, repairs and replacements.

The governor said "we've got a selling job to do" to get legislative acceptance of the changes.

The operating recommendations for the institutions included:

Nine diagnostic clinics for the mentally retarded, $1,338,892.

Escapee Put on FBI List

WASHINGTON -- Hoyt Bud Cobb, who escaped from a Georgia prison camp while serving a life sentence for murder, has been added to the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Fugitives.

He and an accomplice fled on the morning of April 6, 1965, from the Wayne Prison Camp, Jesup, Georgia, where he had been incarcerated while serving a life term imposed in April, 1963, for robbing and beating to death a Toccoa, Georgia, service station operator in 1960. The victim had been brutally beat about the head with a sharp instrument and died shortly after the attack.

When this crime occurred, Cobb was an escapee from a Durham, N. C., prison camp where he had been serving a short jail term for larceny.

Cobb was not apprehended until two years later, September, 1962, when he was taken into custody in Houston, Texas, on a charge of passing fraudulent checks. While being returned to Georgia for trial, Cobb escaped but was apprehended the following day in Houston by FBI Agents. Following his murder conviction and life sentence, Cobb remained confined until his escape April 6, 1965.

A federal warrant, issued at Brunswick, Georgia, on April 14, 1965, charges Cobb with unlawful interstate flight to avoid confinement after conviction for murder.

Cobb, who has also been convicted of forgery and is suspected of involvement in an unsolved Florida murder, is a white American who was born at Toccoa, Georgia, on May 27, 1931.

He is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 165 to 175 pounds, has a medium build, medium complexion, blue eyes and brown, balding hair. He has a mole on his right cheek, is said to have partially decayed teeth and reportedly has unusually small hands for a man. Cobb has worked as a car salesman, construction worker, heavy equipment operator, laborer, salesman and welder.

He reportedly uses narcotics and drinks alcoholic beverages excessively. Associates have described him as a neat dresser and glib-talking loud mouth who drinks beer and liquor, preferring vodka and grapefruit juice, smokes cigarettes and cigars, frequents bars, enjoys dancing, associates with older women and has a cruel streak manifested by receiving pleasure from seeing animals suffer. He is said to be nervous and fidgety, to speak with a pronounced Southern accent at often frequent used car lots.

He may be armed with a pistol and should be considered extremely dangerous. Should any one receive information concerning Cobb, he is requested to notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of local telephone directories.

"Chinese food? Aw, Daddy -- for a minute we thought you brought us a turtle!"

Today In U.S. History

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 12, the 12th day of 1966. There are 353 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1643, a band of colonists led by Samuel Gorham settled Warwick, R.I., calling it Shawmet. It was one of four towns which in 1644 united to form the Colony of Rhode Island.

On this date in 1737, the first signer of the Declaration of Independence, John Hancock, was born.

In 1920, the Women's Federal Suffrage Amendment was approved by the State of Oregon.

In 1911, President William Howard Taft asked Congress for funds to fortify the Panama Canal.

In 1933, Hattie Caraway of Arkansas was elected to the U.S. Senate, the first woman so honored.

In 1946, the 82nd Airborne Division marched on New York's Fifth Avenue, in the first military parade of the kind since 1919.

Ten years ago — The FBI arrested six men in Boston suspected of complicity in the Brink's Express Company robbery.

Five years ago — President Dwight Eisenhower accounted for his eight years in the White House in his final message on the State of the Union.

One year ago — Dean Burch announced he would resign April 1 as Republican national chairman.

CARNIVAL By Dick Turner

"Whaddya mean 'we've got to supply these teen-agers with the answers?' We don't even understand half the questions!"

SIDE GLANCES By Gill Fox

"Let's see, 'Day before yesterday' ought to be about here!"
